Robbers hit market, restaurant

Two armed robberies were reported within four hours Saturday and Sunday morning, each reporting a lone robber armed with a pistol had entered and taken $200 or more.

The first robbery was at 9:15 p.m. Saturday at Lahne's Market, 2443 Grand Ave., in which a man with a nylon stocking over his head took about $200 from the cash register and fled on foot.

At 12:30 a.m. Sunday, police were told a robber with a pistol robbed four customers and two employees at Erway's Drive-In (formerly Dog 'N' Soda), 2220 Pontoon Road, taking $200.

In the first robbery, there were two young women working and no customers inside when the robber entered, displayed a blue-steel pistol and said, "Get a bag and put all the money in it."

As the young employees were following the instructions, a girl, 11 years-old, entered, saw the robber and said, "Hold it. Don't run."

The girl ran out the front door, despite the instructions.

ESCORTED INTO COURTHOUSE at Edwardsville for sentencing Thursday was Larry Whitford, 18, Granite City, far left, who was ordered to serve 30 to 100 years in prison for the stabbing death of Mrs. Donna Marie Bartels, 21, on Chouteau Island Feb. 11. Miss Pam Brooks, 18, also was killed with Mrs. Bartels and her body was recovered last week. No one has yet been charged with the stabbing of Miss Brooks. Whitford is handcuffed to Larry Joe Adams, a prisoner in another case. They are accompanied by Madison County Sheriff's Deputy Stanley Wojcik of Granite City, wearing light jacket.

Madison man electrocuted

Ralph Thompson, 57, of 2120 Hildebrand Ave., Madison, suffered apparent electrocution while using an electric drill outdoors on wet ground at 11:40 a.m. Sunday at his home.

Madison County Sheriff's deputies were summoned to the house where Mr. Thompson was pronounced dead by Madison County Deputy Coroner Edward Werner. An inquest is pending.

Authorities said Mr. Thompson was lying on wet ground near the house porch with an electric drill in his hands. He reportedly was bare-footed and had been working for about an hour on a go-cart.

Mrs. Nettie Mae Thompson told deputies that she was inside the dwelling and thought she heard her husband call out. When she went to investigate, she found him lying on the ground.

A native of Oats, Mo., Mr. Thompson had lived in Madison since 1958. Previously, he had resided in Piedmont, Mo., and St. Louis.

For more than 20 years he had been employed at Husman Refrigeration Co., near St. Charles, Mo. He was a former sheetmetal worker, but for the past few years was employed as a maintenance worker.

In addition to his wife, Mr. Thompson is survived by a son, Arley Thompson of Piedmont, Mo.; a daughter, Mrs. Betty Peterson of Arcadia, Fla.; two brothers, Enoch Thompson and Herbert Radford, both of Piedmont; five sisters, Mrs. Fay Sullivan and Mrs. Alvale Hensley, both of Piedmont; Mrs. Bernice McIntyre, St. Louis; Mrs. Bala Ray, Grand Prairie, Tex.; and Mrs. Muri Fears, Memphis, Tenn.; and three grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are pending. Available details are given in the obituary column.

Born in Chambersburg, Pa., Mr. Hayden resided in Venice 74 years. He retired 25 years ago from the Venice Police Department after 22 years service.

He was a member of the Police Benevolent and Protective Association and the Madison County Police Association.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Cecil Hayden; one son, Merl E. Hayden of Venice; two daughters, Mrs. Robert (Katherine) McKinney of Venice and Mrs. Royce (Jeanette) Timmons of Mitchell; 12 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Whitford term 30 to 100 years

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer
Larry A. Whitford, 18, of 2006 Emaze St., was sentenced Thursday afternoon to serve 30 to 100 years in prison for the stabbing murder of Mrs. Donna Marie Bartels, 21, on Chouteau Island Feb. 11.

Calling the murder "a senseless and vicious killing," Chief Criminal Judge John Gitchoff said he was setting a minimum sentence to "still give you enough hope to rehabilitate yourself and perhaps live like the first 17 years of your life."

He said the maximum was being set "so that if you can do that, you should stay in prison the rest of your life."

Whitford had been indicted by a Madison County grand jury Feb. 20 for the murders of Mrs. Bartels and Miss Pam Brooks, 18, both of whom had been residing in the Quad-City area. Mrs. Bartels' body was recovered from the Mississippi River near the murder scene on the northern tip of Chouteau Island Feb. 12, one day after the murders.

Miss Brooks' body was not located until Tuesday when it was found in the river near Sauget.

Mrs. Bartels' had been stabbed 29 times, according to Thursday's testimony, and officials who examined Miss Brooks' body said she had been stabbed three times in the chest.

During negotiations between the state's attorney's office and Whitford's attorneys, the state's attorney agreed to recommend the murder charge relating to Mrs. Bartels be dismissed if Whitford would plead guilty to the murder of Mrs. Bartels.

It was believed Whitford agreed to give the plea in return for a recommendation by the state's attorney of a prison term of 40 to 90 years, which was the recommendation during Thursday's aggravation and mitigation hearing which preceded the sentencing.

Whitford's attorneys, Paul Riley and Assistant Public Defender Charles Weitzman, argued for a 14-year minimum sentence because of Whitford's religious background, "close knit family," good work record and police background which included only two traffic violations.

Referring to the state's recommendation, Judge Gitchoff told Whitford, "Both by law and as a judge, I feel the recommendation of the state is not an unjust sentence in this case, and I will give you more than the minimum. What I would give you has been in my mind for some time."

He noted that under a state provision known as the "humane provision," Whitford must be brought up in 11 years and three months for probation consideration. "I could give you 1,000 years and you still would be brought up in 11 years for consideration," Gitchoff noted.

Referring to testimony by James Hutchinson, 24, of Granite City, who said Thursday he was with Whitford, the two victims and Kenneth Borer of Granite City, the night of the murder, Judge Gitchoff said he was "not thoroughly satisfied with the participants," in the murder but he noted, "Hutchinson's testimony is unrefuted."

He suggested the state's attorney's office continue to investigate circumstances surrounding the case.

It was noted during the hearing that Whitford pleaded guilty only to stabbing Mrs. Bartels once, knowing that such action could have taken her life. Judge Gitchoff stated, "The seriousness of the offense is in the manner in which the crime was committed. Death is final."

"Murder can be accomplished with one stab wound or one shot in a certain place. There were 29 wounds in Mrs. Bartels' body. This shows an utter disregard for human life."

"One wound exhibited was on the throat. I have no idea when it was made. It could have been the first wound or the 20th. All the others show a carving up of the body. There is no remorse there," Gitchoff said.

The Judge also noted that numerous persons who have known Whitford had testified and written letters to the court in his behalf. "There are many, many letters here on

GC budget tonight

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

A budget measure of approximately $5.6 million for the 1975-76 year is scheduled for action by the Granite City Council tonight as the result of a series of special meetings and conferences since Thursday.

The new appropriation bill will provide across-the-board salary raises of 12 per cent for all city employees, merit raises for some and several changes in fringe benefits from the proposals first received from representatives of unions with which most of the city workers are affiliated.

A budget figure of $5,618,000 was projected by city officials during the weekend as they began final drafts of the measure, but it was noted that budget proposals to be given council members in tonight's meeting are subject to change before final approval is voted. This budget does not include federal revenue sharing items.

A series of changes in fringe benefits was made by the council in a special meeting Thursday night to clear the way for finalizing the budget. If the budget is approved tonight, the action will be within three days of the statutory deadline for approving an appropriation.

Council members Thursday night also eliminated a substantial number of projected expenditures from a tentative budget proposal that has been under study for several weeks.

These cuts were made in an effort to offset at least part of the cost resulting from salary raises which, some officials estimate, will cost the city at least $264,000 a year exclusive of merit raises and additional wage costs under longevity schedules.

In a four-and-a-half-hour meeting Thursday night, the council members considered item-by-item a series of recommended fringe benefits sought by employees for this year's contracts and recommended by the council's Negotiating Committee headed by Alderman Warren Decatur of the Fourth Ward. In addition, the council considered each individual item of the budget, agreeing or disagreeing to leave it in the final budget draft.

Among major cuts in the original budget proposal was elimination of proposed salaries totaling $24,000 for employing two additional members of the fire department and elimination of $70,000 proposed for purchase of a new fire truck. The fire truck expenditure was budgeted in federal revenue sharing accounts.

The latter cut was made after it was noted that delivery of a new pumper truck could not be made in less than 18 months and there was no need to include it in this year's budget. The city's fiscal year began May 1 and will end April 30, 1976.

The aldermen also cut out $7,000 which would have provided the city's 30 per cent share of the cost in acquiring a new rescue truck and $800 set for buying a clothes washer and

Review area progress of governmental projects

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD Mon., July 28, 1975 Page 3

Highway, port and civic center progress was reviewed Thursday afternoon at a meeting of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce representatives and State Senator Sam M. Vadala, Edw. Davis Democrat.

C. E. Blankenship, chairman of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce Governmental Affairs Committee, conducted the meeting, it was related by Edward Reiske, Chamber executive vice-president.

"Sen. Vadala brought the committee up-to-date on legislative matters and new laws," Reiske said.

"During the course of the meeting, the senator discussed many of the bills either signed into law or now on the governor's desk waiting for his signature."

"This includes S. B. 1049, which is the Tri-City Regional Port authority bill totaling $2.7 million, and the companion bill, S. B. 1050, which is the Port free trade zone bill."

"It was pointed out that Chicago has had a foreign trade zone law since 1969, and it is apparent that we need it here. The proposed SIUE television station also was discussed," Reiske reported.

"We also reviewed the Madison-St. Clair Counties civic center, the extension of FA-151 (Great River Road) south from Niedringhaus Avenue, the traffic signals for 18th Street and Madison Avenue, the proposed Collinsville Avenue route in Madison from Madison Avenue to Highway 203, limitation on mail-practice suits, along with appropriations that will provide work and improve highways in this area."

"It was obvious from the discussion that Senator Sam Vadala has been working hard to get our fair share of money to improve this area."

"When the present highways are completed, this area will be in good shape. The construction also will provide needed jobs for construction workers," Reiske said.

"In the near future, some type of grand opening or celebration for the opening of Highway 203, from Mitchell to Pontoon Road, will be arranged. Sen. Vadala has been instrumental in getting this road built."

"In addition, the Senator will bring Dr. Breckland, head of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, and Joseph Pisciotte, Business and Economic Development director, from Springfield to this area for a meeting with the Chamber committee."

"All legislators will be invited to future meetings, which will give us an opportunity to help wherever possible with legislation that affects our community."

Cahokia man is millionth at River Festival

John Hugger of Cahokia became the one-millionth patron of the Mississippi River Festival on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Friday evening at the Bob Hope Show.

Hugger, who attended the show with his wife and two of his three children, was awarded a commemorative plaque of the event by Bob Hope during Hope's performance at the Festival. Hugger is employed by General American Life Insurance of St. Louis. Hugger also received special seats at the Hope performance and season tickets to the remainder of the River Festival season.

"This was the perfect show for us to have our millionth patron after seven years of River Festival performances," said Festival Managing Director Lyle Ward. "Bob Hope is a great entertainer, and the crowd loved the show."

The Mississippi River Festival, begun in 1968 with a six-week season of 30 musical events, has become a full-fledged summer festival of the arts, with dance, residences, pop and folk music, symphony performances, and special shows like the Hope performance. The current season runs eight weeks and involves some 50 separate acts.

"We're very proud of the way the festival has grown over the years," said Ward. "Our millionth patron shows us that we are offering the people of the St. Louis area the kind of summer art festival that they can enjoy. By offering a wide variety, we hope to have something for everyone through the course of the season."

Jean cutoffs make bags

By BETTY W. KINSEY

My readers are always one up on me. Now they are using the Tricot Sheet leaflet for making all kinds of sheets. If you have an odd-size mattress that needs a sheet, try ours. For the leaflet, send 20¢ and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of your newspaper.

You don't have to use Tricot — use flannel, cotton or an old sheet.

felt he should make use of the parts he cut off, so he asked me to sew up the cut end, leaving the hemmed end open. What for? "To make little bags to keep stuff in!" It's amazing what a 10-year-old can find to put in bags-to-keep-stuff-in. I stitched strips of hook-and-loop fasteners to the open end for easy closing.

(I think grownups could find a lot of uses for such little "bags-to-keep-stuff-in.")

I haven't seen many patterns at garage sales that were very stylish, but when they sell for 10¢ each it's hard to pass them up. How about this: Use the pattern pieces for tissue when altering a pattern. The tissue from one pattern should go a long way.

Hoyt F. Ray, 20, of 2033B Delmar Ave., was arrested by police at 1:08 a.m. Friday on charges of aggravated assault and reckless conduct following a shooting incident at 2033A Delmar Ave.

Police said Ray shot at Jack Butler, 2033A Delmar Ave., after Butler struck Ray's dog. Butler said the dog was snapping at him.

When Butler hit the dog, Ray is alleged to have told Butler to stand in the apartment's window during which time he is alleged to have gone to his car, got a gun from the glove compartment and fired at the window. According to a witness, Ray fired two more shots from the porch of the home.

No gun was found. Two other persons were held for questioning.

Mental health plan hearing

A public hearing to consider the revised draft of a five-year plan for the Illinois Department of Mental Health and Development Disabilities has been scheduled July 30 at the University Center Building, Mississippi-Illinois Room, SIUE.

Copies of the revised draft of the plan have been distributed to community groups and interested citizens who are invited to present testimony at the hearings.

The purpose of the hearings is to give all Illinois residents a chance to make their views on Mental Health programs in the state known and to permit incorporation of their ideas into the final plan.

Man assaults rail switchman

Cornelio Ybarra Jr., 5217 Lakeview Drive, reported to police Thursday that he and Kevin Johnson, 2307 W. 24th St., were switching railroad cars at the 19th Street crossing when a man ran up to him and struck him in the jaw.

An afternoon session, 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., and an evening session, 7 to 9 p.m., will be held. LeRoy P. Levitt, M.D., department director, will chair the meetings, assisted by other administrators and members of the agency's Citizen's Advisory Council.

After statewide hearings have been concluded, the department will review all testimony and use it as a basis for writing a final version of the five-year plan to be adopted in the early fall.

Car overturns, woman is hurt

Miss Linda Krohne, 22, of 4272 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach, was injured when her auto went out of control on Route 111 about one and a half miles south of Interstate 270 and overturned several times at 12:45 a.m. Friday.

Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department rescue squad personnel helped remove her from the auto. She was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was admitted with a cut to her tongue and hematoma to her forehead and face. A series of x-rays were taken.

5 arrested in SIUE incident

Five persons were arrested in connection with two incidents last week at the Outdoor Performing Arts Facility at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. None of the persons was a student at SIUE.

SIUE security officers charged Tony Gibson, 21, of East St. Louis with unlawful possession of cannabis in a sufficient quantity to constitute a felony. Enroute to the Madison County Jail, he reportedly threatened security officers and was charged with intimidation, also a felony.

In an appearance before Associate Circuit Judge Merlin Hiscott, Gibson's bond was set at a total of $12,500 on the two charges.

Security officers charged four men, including two juveniles, with breaking into a 1962 Chevrolet on the SIUE campus. Charged with burglary are Dusie Wilder, 18, of St. Louis and William Sedden, 18, also of St. Louis. They were taken to Madison County Jail, and Judge Hiscott set their bonds at $10,000 each. The juveniles, also from St. Louis, were released to the custody of their parents, pending appearance in juvenile court. They are 15 and 16 years of age.

HERITAGE HIGHLIGHTS  BICENTENNIAL SERIES

Boone Rescues His Daughter.

A Trail of String and Twigs...

Three young pioneer girls were dragged roughly through the underbrush... their Indian captors gave them little rest.

The two Calloway girls were crying from fatigue and the pain of the tight buckskin thongs. Limping, from a twisted ankle, their friend Jimima lagged behind.

It was a July day in 1776 near the Kentucky settlement of Boonesborough and the Indians, with their captives, were miles ahead of their pursuers.

Jimima continued to fall behind, breaking twigs on the bushes she grasped for support. From time to time she tore and dropped small strips and strings from the handkerchief wadded in her palm.

On the second night, the pioneer leader and his companions, who had followed Jimima's well-marked trail, burst into a clearing, killed two redskins and rescued the three girls.

Jimima Boone and her father, Daniel Boone, were reunited.

Seizure law to enforce payment of sales taxes

Illinois Revenue Director Robert H. Alphin said this week that a new law allowing the state revenue department to seize and sell property to recover long-standing sales tax debts "will add muscle to the agency's enforcement program and millions to the state treasury."

Alphin said the law would help the department take action on some 900 accounts in which sales taxes collected by merchants in Illinois were not remitted to the state.

The new law, similar to a seizure provision of the Illinois Income Tax Act, will permit the department to collect delinquent sales taxes by ordering seized and sold the business and personal assets of a merchant who fails to remit the taxes he collects from his customers.

Alphin said the first notices—the initial step in the seizure action—were sent today.

"This new law gives us the strength to insure that sellers of goods and services obey Illinois tax laws," the director said. "The people of Illinois pay these taxes for the support of public services, not the private interests of a few unscrupulous tax dodgers."

Alphin said a merchant's failure to pay over sales and related tax revenues had also meant losses to local governments that levied a sales tax since that money is collected along with the state tax. He said the revenue department would distribute the local funds as they were obtained.

Seizures would be ordered, Alphin said, only after other attempts to collect delinquent taxes failed. He said the department would continue to give taxpayers the opportunity for hearings and reviews.

"After that, we will issue a warrant to the county sheriff to seize property in the amount of the overdue taxes," Alphin said. "That will include a merchant's inventory, his bank accounts, and any personal property required to cover the debt."

"If the account has not been settled within 20 days, the sheriff will then conduct a sale of the property, and the proceeds will be applied to the tax debt and any interest, penalties and fees."

Bluegrass and rock music, Robin Hood at River Fest

This week's Mississippi River Festival events on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will include a movie, "The Adventures of Robin Hood," and a Blue Grass Jubilee featuring the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band and John Hartford.

The Chamber Music Series for the week includes a performance of works by Mozart, Bartok and Brahms, and other Festival artists include The Eagles, with special guest J. D. Souther, and folk artist Joan Baez, with special guest Hoyt Axton.

In "Robin Hood," scheduled at 9 tonight in the University Center, Errol Flynn is at his swashbuckling best as the hero from Sherwood Forest who robs the rich to give to the poor.

Flynn rides England of the evil Prince John, while gaining the admiration of the beautiful maid Marion.

The Blue Grass Jubilee, to be presented Saturday, Aug. 2, at 8:30 p.m. at the Festival site, displays the talents of one of America's foremost country-rock groups in the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band.

Started in 1966, the group had early single hits like "Mr. Tambourine Man" and "Buy Me for the Rain." Then, in 1971, the famous "Will the Circle Be Unbroken" album was recorded, with the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band playing with such established old-line country greats as Roy Acuff, Mother Maybelle Carter and Earl Scruggs.

John Hartford, appearing with the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band, is a multi-talented song-writer and performer who first reached national prominence playing on the Glen Campbell television show.

He originally is from St. Louis. Hartford's one-night homecoming will provide the audience with a folksy type of country music.

The Eagles, appearing tomorrow at 8:30 p.m., are one of the hottest groups in rock music. An album, "One of These Nights," has been the number one album in Billboard magazine's current listings.

Other Eagles albums include "Desperado" and "On the Border." The group's first big hit, "Take It Easy," was recorded in the spring of 1972.

Appearing with the Eagles will be J. D. Souther, a member of the Southern Hillman Furay band, who is touring singly this summer before rejoining the group in the fall.

Joan Baez, one of the strongest forces in folk music, will be at the Festival Wednesday at 8:30 p.m.

She has a new album, "Diamonds and Rust," which presents a non-political side of the artist that displays her music and lyrics more clearly than her previous efforts.

Appearing with her will be Hoyt Axton, who first came to fame as the cowriter of the Kingston Trio's hit, "Greenback Dollar." Other hits have included "Joy to the World," written for Three Dog Night when Axton toured with that group, and "Never Been to Spain," also recorded by Three Dog Night.

NITTY GRITTY DIRT BAND. The country-rock musicians will be featured at the Mississippi River Festival's Blue Grass Jubilee at 8:30 p.m. Saturday at SIUE.

School board approves 'open' records policy

The Granite City District 9 Board of Education has approved a policy to "make available to students 14 years-of-age or older, parents, legal guardians and/or 'real parties in interest,' directory information, cumulative data and/or temporary data with the provisions specified."

The policy is aimed to bring the school district in compliance with recent federal legislation. Some information, however, may be released to certain officials without parental, guardian or student consent, but those persons must be notified that they have the right to see the records before they are released. Parents, guardians or eligible students may request to see their children's records, and the school principal or his assistant will designate a time during "a reasonable school hour" to accommodate all parties concerned.

Also approved was the adoption of a new social studies program for elementary schools for the 1976-77 school year. During that year, school officials will determine which components of the program are needed and will learn how to use the materials most effectively. The board received only one bid on the collection of trash and garbage for the two schools not in the Granite City trash collection area. The bid, from United Disposal, was identical to last year's contract for $143 per month to collect two times per week at Stallings School and three times per week at Mitchell School during the school year.

The board awarded the contract on the basis of the low and only bid. Board Member L. Monroe Worthen cited complaints of problem drivers at Wilson School who are posing a danger to children and homes around the school.

Board Member Harold Davis recommended that the administration study the problem and meet with Granite City police, if necessary, to attempt to find a solution to the problem.

Born in Perryville, Mo., he lived in Chester, Ill., before moving to this area 40 years ago.

Mr. Wingerter had worked as a crane man for 40 years at the local steel plant prior to his retirement. He was a member of Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

Funeral services were held Saturday morning. Details are given in the obituary column.

Pre-printed renewal forms for car licenses are mailed

Approximately five million pre-printed renewal applications are being mailed to owners of passenger cars and other first division vehicles for 1975 calendar year registrations.

Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett has announced that the new Bicentennial license plates will be displayed on all passenger cars in 1976. Kelley Jordan, Ill., of Normal, submitted the winning design in a statewide contest sponsored by Secretary Howlett. More than 400,000 school children participated.

Howlett said applications will only be accepted and processed with the pre-printed renewal form.

"Pre-prints ease the process of ordering or purchasing plates," said Howlett, "and they enable our office to give better service to the public."

Any incorrect information should be lined out and corrected on the pre-print, even if it does not cover the vehicle the individual is now driving. For the second year, notification is not required. Reassignments and special requests must be in the secretary's office before the Sept. 30 deadline.

Howlett said reassignment of present license numbers is guaranteed under state law if application is made by the specified date.

"There are two important factors on special license requests," said Howlett. "The combination must be manufactured and the number must be available. Because many numbers already have been assigned, Howlett urged that applicants wanting special combinations add after their request "or lowest possible number in this series."

Technical editing seminar

The English language and literature department of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer a year-long seminar in technical editing, beginning with the fall quarter.

Seminar in Technical Editing (ENG. 580) is designed for graduate students in English who want specialized information about editing work within their discipline, rather than training as journalists.

Alvin Sullivan, assistant professor of English, said the students will produce for publication three issues of "Papers on Language and Literature" and/or two issues of the "Sou'wester," literary publications produced by the SIUE English department.

The course will provide training in all phases of small magazine operations. Students will learn how to establish a format for prospective printers, secure bids, administer a magazine business office and obtain copyrights.

They will copy-edit manuscripts, fit copy to print, edit galley, prepare front and back matter for issues, and compile an annual index. Students will follow their work assignments from the time an essay is submitted until it appears in a bound issue, Sullivan said. Enrollment is limited to 10 students and admission will be by the consent of the instructor. Additional information may be obtained by contacting the English language and literature department at SIUE.

Walter Kassler found dead

Walter P. Kassler, 68, of 2884 rear Iowa St., was found without signs of life in his home and was pronounced dead at the scene at 8:40 p.m. Friday by Madison County Deputy Coroner Edward Werner.

An inquest is to be held into the cause of death, but indications at the scene were of a natural death. There were no signs of foul play, officials said. Mr. Kassler had been under treatment for a heart ailment and recently had been released from a hospital, relatives reported.

A neighbor called Mr. Kassler's daughter and son-in-law, John and Peggy Vohradsky of Alton and reported the house had been closed and the air conditioner turned off for some time, although she thought Mr. Kassler was inside.

Vohradsky attempted to break into the house by tearing a screen in the front screen door, but found the front door locked.

He gained entry by using a stepladder and breaking into a kitchen window. He said he found Mr. Kassler on the floor of

HERE'S HOW

Fireplace smoke a nuisance

By GENE GARY

Q. I was wondering if you could give me some instructions on how to clean a light-colored brick fireplace as I have problems with it smoking at times. Also what could be the cause of its smoking? It seems as though it helps when a window is left open a bit. It may be a poor draft, so is there any way other than opening the window to improve it? — Mrs. Mary B. Kelowna, D.C.

A. There could be many reasons for the smoke condition. In a new house, it is possible the flue is clogged, thus cutting down the draft. The chimney may be too low. It should extend at least four feet above a flat roof and two feet or more above the highest point of a gabled roof.

The depth of the fireplace should be not less than 20 inches, and the opening at the front should be not greater than 10 to 12 times the area of the flue.

Possibly, the opening is too high. The latter can be remedied by installing a metal hood across the top of the fireplace opening. The distance can be ascertained by experiment with boards or heavy cardboard. The fireplace draft might not be open sufficiently to provide proper draft.

In a tightly built house, it might also be necessary to keep open the door of the room in which the fireplace is located. That's probably the reason the window opening helps. Lack of sufficient air movement could cause trouble.

Cleaning and etching preparations for stone and masonry surfaces are available at most masonry supply and large paint and hardware dealers. Or you can make a paste with powdered pumice and concentrated ammonia. Apply heavily to the smoked area with a brush and let it set for two hours. Then scrub with hot water and soap and rinse with clear water and dry. Repeat this treatment if necessary.

Q. I often see the letters BTU in brochures and other material used in connection with heating and air-conditioning systems. I cannot find anything in the dictionary about them. What do they mean? — Arthur M.

A. The letters stand for "British Thermal Unit." Each unit stands for the quantity of heat required to raise the temperature of one pound of water one degree Fahrenheit. While other considerations enter into the quality of a room air conditioner, it usually can be assumed that the higher the number of BTUs, the greater the cooling capacity of the machine. A conditioner rated at 6,000 BTUs is capable of removing that many units of heat each hour.

Jean Ann Waters new Miss Illinois

A talented gymnast, sponsored by the Effingham Jaycees, captured the Miss Illinois crown at the annual beauty-talent state contest which concluded Saturday evening at Aurora.

Jean Ann Waters, 22, competing as Miss Crossroads County, a five-foot, seven-inch tall brunette, was named the state title winner at Aurora West High School Auditorium.

More than 2,500 attending the final night of competition viewed presentations in the swimsuit, evening gown and talent sequences by the 10 finalists and revue-style entertainment featuring all contestants.

Melanie Rose Asadorian, Miss Granite City of 1975, won high praise for her vocal presentation, although she failed to place among the 10 finalists.

Directors of this year's state pageant said competition in the talent segment was "the roughest they had ever seen." Own Ross, Miss Granite City's personal manager for the local Jaycees organization, remarked today. All the candidates were very talented, he said.

First runner-up was Christy McNaughton Nahser, 21, Miss Hinsdale-Clarendon Hills, a vocalist.

Other candidates in the top five were:

Second — Susan Dawn Busch, 20, Miss Mt. Prospect, pianist; third — Nancy Virginia Hirth, 19, Miss North Shore, vocalist; and fourth — Marianne Chellis, 21, Miss Charleston Delta Chi, vocalist.

Among the remaining top ten finalists were: Miss Macomb — Kathryn Eunice Firta, 21, Miss Chicago — Maria Dandy, 23; Miss Barrington — Shayne Elyse McNeerney, 20; Miss Blackhawk Valley — Rebecca Sue Jowski, 20; and Miss Countryside Mall — Mary Gerylyn Jenkins, 18.

Miss Granite City is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Asadorian, 2117 Grand Ave. Her parents and brothers were among several local well-wishers attending the state pageant.

The local candidate, who will begin her sophomore year in September at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, majoring in both music education and vocal performance, returned to school this morning.

Mrs. Marlene Ross, Miss Granite City's official chaperone provided by the Granite City Jaycees, commented today on the "noticeable change in all candidates from the time they arrived last Sunday in Aurora to their departure for home."

"All gained tremendous poise during the week-long pageant," Mrs. Ross said. "Even Melanie's parents were unable to believe the change in her in only one week's time," she added.

"The candidates are treated like royalty — everything is directed toward them — during the pageant and it seems to visibly increase their self-confidence," Mrs. Ross said. "The contest is an excellent opportunity for a girl to develop her potential and help her to realize her own value."

MISS ILLINOIS. Jean Ann Waters, 22, won the Miss Illinois crown Saturday evening at Aurora, competing as Miss Crossroads County of Effingham. The five-foot, seven-inch tall brunette performed an outstanding gymnastic interpretive dance sequence to sweep the talent segment, viewers said. She will participate in the Miss America Pageant in September at Atlantic City, N.J.

G. C. Hoedebeck, 55, dies

Gerald C. Hoedebeck, 55, of 3324 Redoubt Ave., a lifelong resident of Granite City, died at 2:15 a.m. today at St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he had been a patient for one month.

Mr. Hoedebeck was a member of St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. LaVerne Hoedebeck; two sons, Keith and Kevin Hoedebeck of Granite City; two daughters, Mrs. Larry (Anita) Frazier of Granite City and Mrs. David (Martha) Foerster of Kirkwood, Mo.; two sisters, Misses Juliana and Dorothy Hoedebeck, both of Granite City; his mother, Mrs. Clara Hoedebeck of Granite City.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

CYCLE ACCIDENT
Debra Ford 20, of St. Louis, was admitted at 6:20 a.m. Friday to St. Elizabeth Hospital suffering from bruises to both legs and her right elbow. She was a passenger on a motorcycle driven by Lawrence Marshall, 24, also of St. Louis.

The cycle fell over when Marshall lost control on the McKinley bridge. The car was parked in the driveway of his home, it was reported at 1:20 a.m. Friday.

TAKE RADIO FROM AUTO
A $26 citizens' band radio was stolen from the car of the Rev. Walter Smith, 2907 Warren Ave., while the car was parked in the driveway of his home, it was reported at 1:20 a.m. Friday.

Lone robbers

The robber then grabbed the bag containing about $200 in bills and change and ran out the door.

He was seen running north in the 2500 block of Grand Avenue removing his stocking mask. He then turned toward State Street and disappeared from the view of witnesses.

At Ervay's Restaurant, the robber entered through an unlocked rear door, walked through the kitchen area past a cook and into the dining room where four customers were seated.

Three waitresses in the dining room saw the robber, ran into the office and locked the door, it was reported.

The robber tried to open the cash register, but did not know how to do so, according to the customers, so he went back to the man cook and ordered him to open the register.

The cook also was unable to open the register, after which the robber became angry and knocked the cash register onto the floor, the witnesses reported.

The robber then was reported to have turned to the customers and demanded their money. One man had $200 which he gave the robber. Another customer had no money and the other two gave him $5 and $3 each, police were told.

He then grabbed two waitresses' purses by the cash register and fled. The purses contained $38 and $40.

One man, who said he escaped from the dining room through the rear door when he saw the robber enter, said he flagged down a passing motorist for assistance.

He said he waited in the car with the driver and passengers until the robber left through the rear door and watched him get into a light blue or white 1962 Oldsmobile F85 auto where another man was waiting behind the steering wheel.

The witness said he and the persons who stopped to assist him followed the robber's car south on Johnson Road until it turned onto Kilarney Drive where they lost sight of it. The restaurant robber was described as slender, having a light complexion, short and sandy hair, and wearing a red-checked shirt, blue denim pants and tennis shoes.

His gun, which he carried in his right hand, was believed to be a .38 caliber revolver.

drier for the main fire station. In the Street Department appropriations, the aldermen eliminated a $20,000 item for a new grader, $16,000 for two new dump trucks and $4,000 for a new pickup truck. A proposal to hire four new Street Department workers was reduced to three workers with an appropriation of $45,000 for salaries and fringe benefits.

They did approve $5,000 for two new tailgate spreaders, $25,000 for a new street sweeper and $20,000 for a new backhoe.

Also approved in the federal revenue sharing budget was $50,000 for installation of an Opti-Com system, an electronic system that changes traffic lights to green upon the approach of emergency vehicles.

The aldermen rejected a request by Street Superintendent Lionel Portell that an assistant superintendent be hired at $14,000 a year. Under the budget, however, Portell will receive a salary of $17,000 during the current fiscal year, up from $13,000, plus a $1,200 expense account which he did not receive last year.

The council placed on first reading a proposal to increase to $100 from $50 per month the salaries of the three members of the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners, but voted to increase overtime pay for part-time employees from $2.35 an hour to $2.50.

In action on fringe benefits, the aldermen refused to approve one phase of a new agreement that would provide a $5 per month increase for police officers from the rank of sergeant to lieutenant-colonel. Seventeen men would be involved.

The council also cut a requested increase in the clothing allowance for four detectives. The agreement proposed an increase from $150 to $300, but the aldermen trimmed the increase to $50 for a $200 annual allowance.

Steel industry urges tax aids to boost production

The steel industry has launched a multi-billion dollar program to build the 30 million tons of new steelmaking capacity the U.S. will need by 1980 — a project that would create tens of thousands of new jobs. This effort could be seriously impaired unless federal tax policies encourage more rapid accumulation of investment capital, industry spokesmen said.

This was the concern expressed today by the American Iron and Steel Institute in testimony before the House Ways and Means Committee at Washington.

C. William Verity Jr., chairman of Armco Steel Corp., was spokesman for the Institute at the hearing.

The AISI statement indicated that the steel industry currently employs about 750,000 persons, including those engaged in coal and iron ore mining, quarrying and related transportation as well as employees directly engaged in steelmaking operations.

According to the Institute, if the nation's steel companies are able to install the additional 30 million tons of capacity they estimate the U.S. will require by 1980, $5,000 to $6,000 new full-time jobs will be created in steel production and related areas from raw materials production through steel finishing. The industry also estimated that a substantial number of additional job opportunities would be created in supplier and other auxiliary industries.

However, building the needed new capacity, as well as modernizing existing facilities and meeting pollution control requirements, will cost an average of $5 billion a year — in current dollars — for the next six to nine years. Basing its potential on 1973 and 1974 — the steel industry's two highest volume years on record — the industry generated an average annual net cash flow of only $2.8 billion.

The industry statement emphasized that should it be able to continue this performance, industry cash flow would still fall $1.5 billion short of its annual capital needs.

Although efforts to increase profitability must be the industry's principal means of closing its capital gap, these efforts must be supported by federal income tax policies specifically encouraging capital formation, particularly in capital-intensive industries such as steel.

Some of the industry's major recommendations were:

Enactment of a simplified and flexible system that would permit recovery of productive industrial investment in as short a period as five years.

An increase in the investment tax credit to 12 per cent and its permanent retention.

Deduction of all expenditures for pollution control facilities as incurred.

Retention of existing percentage depletion for extractive

Braves survive first round of Khoury series

The Granite City Braves baseball club scored two runs in the first inning and then coasted to a 6-2 victory behind hurler Paul Evans' two-hitter yesterday over Freeburg. Smithton in the first round of the Illinois State Class B Khoury League playoffs. The win advances the local squad to a meeting next Sunday at Wilson Park against Bellevue West, the defending state champion. Mike Clark, Randy Smith and Eldon Warfield all singled in the first with Clark and Smith scoring. The Braves increased the lead to 3-0 in the second inning as Ed Prazma singled, stole second, then went to third on an error. He scored on a passed ball. Smithton put a run across in the third, but the Braves got it back in the fifth. Warfield singled, advanced on errors, and scored on Evans' sacrifice fly for a 4-1 Braves lead. Jim Cedor drew a walk with one out in the sixth inning then stole second. Clark reached base on a fielder's choice and stole second as Cedor went home. The opposing catcher's throw to second went into the outfield, allowing Clark to reach third. Clark scored on Randy Smith's hit and put the Braves in the lead 6-1. Smithton scored its final run in the seventh. Today and tomorrow, the Braves host a West Memphis, Ark., team at Wilson Park, beginning at 1 p.m. each day. On Wednesday, the Braves travel to St. Louis for a 6 p.m. contest with the St. Louis Saints at Northwest High School.

Whitford

your behalf. The court has read all of them.

"Some pertain to your parents. I can not give much weight to them. Your parents are not on trial."

Judge Gitchoff concluded, "Somewhere along the line, this changed with you."

"There was no one here to speak for Donna Bartels," he added.

He said, "I am not moved by the defense counsel saying you are remorseful. You have appeared before me three times in court and I don't feel that I've seen any remorse in your voice or your composure."

Whitford stood during the sentencing quiet with his head bowed. Earlier, he had been able to talk calmly and even joke with his attorneys, and appeared calm.

His attitude appeared to change, however, when Hutchinson was called to the stand, as he appeared nervous and uttered several words in disagreement to the testimony being offered by Hutchinson.

Hutchinson testified he was driving in Granite City when Whitford blew his car's horn for Hutchinson to stop. He said Whitford said he had had an auto accident and wanted repair estimate from Hutchinson, who does body work.

Boner was with Whitford at that time, he said. Hutchinson said he parked his car along Madison Avenue and went with Whitford and Boner.

They got a six-pack of beer and the three drank it as they rode around. Whitford was stopped for a loud muffler and received a ticket in Madison, he recalled. They then went driving around more, he said.

"We drove down Nameoki road and picked up two hitchhikers," he said, noting they were both females. He said he showed a photo of Mrs. Bartels' body and identified it as one of the young women they picked up.

He said Donna Bartels got into the back seat with he and Boner and Pam Brooks sat in the front seat beside Whitford, who was driving.

"We picked the girls up. They said they were going to a party," he related, adding that he thought Whitford said something about having their own party.

"We went riding around, and Larry said he would get some stuff for them," he testified, explaining he was not sure what the "stuff" meant. "Donna wanted a needle," he said he recalled.

He said Whitford went to one house and a man there said he could fix him up with something, adding they then parked the car in this one place, and "Larry got some pills from under the seat of the car and they all took some except me and Boner. In North Granite, I believe," he testified.

He said they then went to Boner's house to get his car, which was nearby out of gasoline. They went to a service station which was closed, and then started toward a service station on Route 203 south of Madison.

Boner's auto ran out of gas near Route 162 and 20th Street, and Whitford went to the front of the car, got his wallet out and looked at the wallet in the headlights, saying his money was gone, Hutchinson related.

Boner stayed with the car while Hutchinson and Whitford went to get gasoline. The two young women went across the street to get beer and cigarettes, he told the court.

He said they put gasoline into the car and Boner parked his vehicle at his home, Hutchinson thought. They then went to the levee road, he said. Whitford at that point began shaking his head and said, "I don't know."

Hutchinson further related that Whitford pointed to a house and said, "When the guy sees us with our headlights on, he'll know it's me," Hutchinson recalled. He was supposed to be bringing heroin, for Mrs. Bartels, he testified, but he did not recall any specific references to heroin.

Whitford then drove 35 to 40 feet from water and "we listened to the radio, drank beer and talked. Larry got out and walked behind the car and stayed there," he testified, estimating Whitford was behind the car about five minutes.

The girl in the front seat (believed to have been Pam Brooks) then got out and went to where Larry was. They were there a few minutes and Larry came back," he testified.

His testimony on the timing of when each passenger went behind the car differed in several references, but he indicated one girl went behind the car and was there a few minutes.

"I got out to see what was going on. Larry said he was going to get his money back from the girls," he testified, estimating Whitford was behind the car about five minutes.

"I laughed since the girls were cutting up (laughing) and said, 'let's go home.' Kenny came out and we both went (back) to the car," the witness said.

He said that was when Pam Brooks got out of the car, he thought. Later, "Larry came to the driver's side and said (allegedly to Mrs. Bartels), 'Where's my money.' She said she didn't have it."

"She said she had $20 and that was her money, Larry said. 'Give it to me.' She asked where her girl friend was and Larry said he would make them walk home. She gave him the $20 and got out of the car and that's when the other girl got out," Hutchinson alleged, which drew an immediate objection from the defense attorneys.

The attorneys and Judge Gitchoff held a quiet conference at the judge's bench before Assistant State's Attorney Bob Treone's questioning of Hutchinson continued.

Asked what occurred after the second young woman left the car, Hutchinson alleged, "I sat in the car. After a few minutes I started out and Boner said I had better stay in the car. After a few minutes we both got out. There were two bodies behind the car."

"Larry told me and Boner to help him drag the bodies down to the water," he alleged.

Treone asked, "Did you participate ...?" and Hutchinson said he helped drag one body to the edge of the river, but did not know which young woman it was.

"We laid her at the edge of the water and Larry told me to help Boner with the other," he alleged, which was followed by additional objections from the defense attorneys.

The judge ruled the testimony must be limited to the killing of Mrs. Bartels, which was the issue in the trial, but said details at this point of the testimony were pertinent to the killing of Mrs. Bartels.

He continued, "They (the victims) were both at the edge of the water and I started walking back and Larry said, 'Help me get them in the water,' and I said I wasn't going to. When I looked back, Larry was already pushing them in the water," Hutchinson contended.

He recalled they all went back to the car and Whitford told them to "Get rid of all this stuff." Hutchinson said he threw his jacket in the weeds to get rid of it.

He then alleged Whitford said, "You didn't think crazy Whitford would do it, did you? Kenny knew (I) would." Hutchinson said Whitford then began to laugh, "real crazy-like."

"He said we better wash the blood off the car and we went through the (Granite City) car wash," he alleged. He recalled Whitford asking where Hutchinson's jacket was, and Hutchinson said he threw it in the weeds.

"He said we better go back and get it. I said I didn't want to and Kenny Boner said he didn't want to," Hutchinson related. Hutchinson said the three then disassembled and he went to his brother's house and notified authorities what had happened.

He later went to the Granite City police station to relate the occurrences, he said.

In cross-examination, Riley alleged Hutchinson had known Whitford longer than the 8 months to one year acquaintance to which Hutchinson had testified.

"We intend to prove that he has known Larry substantially longer," Riley said.

The attorneys again approached the bench for a private conference with Judge Gitchoff.

Gitchoff ordered a statement about Hutchinson erased from the official record, and called for a 15 minute recess.

Whitford, the attorneys and Judge Gitchoff retired into a side conference room for a discussion. When court resumed, Riley said he had no more questions for Hutchinson and discontinued his cross-examination.

Treone said he had completed the aggravation stage of the hearing and the defense attorneys began to call witnesses to testify to the character of Whitford.

The court heard a former boss tell of his good work record at The Colonnades in 1974; Whitford's father, Gordon

Whitford, told of his son's church participation and close family life; a neighbor's testimony that Larry Whitford was always helpful and worked for her for free in her confectionery; and his sister-in-law, who said he had always been kind and helpful to her; and his former Sunday School teacher.

Also testifying was his fiancée, who said she was Miss Jo Ann Palmer, 17, Collinsville. The mother of a child, she said they had been dating 2½ years and pledged to wait for him after prison.

Her mother also took the stand saying she felt Whitford had been a good influence on all her children, both before and since his arrest.

The sentencing followed the defense witnesses. In pronouncing the 30 to 100 years sentence, Judge Gitchoff noted that Whitford has the right to appeal the sentence within 30 days if he does not feel it fair. He may withdraw his guilty plea and if the court accepts the withdrawal, a trial will be set "on the charges to which the plea was made."

The judge warned, "Any charges dropped during these proceedings may be reinstated and set for trial." He then agreed to dismiss count two of murder, which pertained to Miss Brooks.

Judge Gitchoff then remanded Whitford to the Madison County Sheriff's Department for transfer to the state Department of Corrections.

Asked after sentencing why Boner was not called to the witness stand, State's Attorney Nicholas G. Bryon said, "He was not available."

A citizen band telephone-type radio valued at $220 was stolen from the auto of Glenn Wheeler, Florissant, Mo., while it was parked at the Tri-City Grocery Store parking lot, it was reported at 1:45 p.m. Thursday.

Underpass water table drops

Around-the-clock pumping to lower the water table at the Broadway underpass in Venice is continuing, the Venice City Council was informed last week.

Art Kettenhoffen, project engineer for the city, told the council that readings indicate that the ground water elevation through the subway area has been lowered by 10 feet and now below the elevation required to install the drainage system.

Excavation work which had been halted due to the high water table, began Friday and men are working 12 hours a day until drainage lines are installed and the roadway ready for paving.

The report indicated that of the original 210 working days on the contract 100 or 53 per cent have been used; but only about 33 per cent of the contract has been completed.

Alderman Harry Buente expressed concern that some of the summer workers are not being properly supervised. He said several young men cutting weeds were seen throwing corn knives and catching them and he felt that someone could get seriously hurt.

Alderman Oscar King said the finance committee will not approve any more bills for sharpening knives and other tools, as the street department has the equipment to sharpen them and he feels they should be doing it.

The police report for June listed 44 adult arrests and 11 juvenile arrests with $449 in fines collected.

Thomas Fields, administrative assistant to Mayor William Ebersold, reported he has heard nothing from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency in regard to railroad noise.

Mayor Ebersold said, "I want the people to know that the McKinley bridge will be open during the scheduled repairs. We are going to repair the east and west approaches, but this will not stop traffic."

"We hope the people using the bridge will be patient, as we may have to slow traffic down to one lane part of the time."

Mrs. Phyllis Schlafly, leader of Illinois' anti-Equal Rights Amendment forces, said she believes ERA opponents will be able to block Illinois passage of the amendment for another four years. It must be ratified by 38 states by that time to become law.

To prevent millions of dollars in urban flood damage annually, a special governor's task force has recommended the state concentrate its flood control planning efforts in this Illinois metropolitan area.

Repairs to the East Side approach ramps to the 3-year-old Poplar Street Bridge will cost about $3.4 million and take more than a year. Malfunctioning expansion bearings are blamed for causing high-stress on the ramps, which has resulted in buckled steel and cracks in concrete columns.

Two East Side labor leaders have told Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman Jr. they will sign an agreement saying there would be no jurisdictional disputes among Illinois unions if the proposed St. Louis area airport is built at the Columbia-Waterloo site. Coleman was concerned about work stoppages resulting from union disputes.

The U. S. Senate has overridden President Gerald Ford's veto of a $2 billion health services and nurse training bill. Ford rejected the measure as too costly.

Congress has given little indication it plans to support President Ford's latest oil plan, which House Speaker Carl Albert called "the best compromise we can get." Ford's plan calls for decontrol of oil prices after 39 months.

Severe natural gas shortages might create major unemployment in industry and business and "might reach residential users," a congressional committee reported Saturday. It said shortages would be most severe in some Eastern and South Central states.

President Ford has declared Fulton County a disaster area following a tornado that ripped through the city of Canton causing nearly $8 million damage.

A Winnetka Republican, Franklin J. Lundin Jr., has been elected chairman of the Illinois Board of Elections. The board is designed to oversee the conduct of elections throughout the state.

A citizens' band radio, valued at $164, was stolen from the auto of Michael Embury, Troy, while it was parked at 1800 Adams St., it was reported at 2:55 p.m. Thursday. Entry was gained from the driver's door.

Kidney machine proposed

Granite City Rotarians last week offered to contribute $2,500 toward the cost of a proposed machine to treat kidney patients at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

The contribution represents the club's share of proceeds from the last Camel auction. The 1975 Camelot event is set for Oct. 18 at Sunset Hills Country Club, with Drew Karandjoff heading the Rotarians' committee. The auction is held annually under joint sponsorship of the Granite City Rotary and Optimist clubs. The project to help establish a hospital program to cleanse the blood of persons whose kidneys are failing was outlined at the meeting by Walter Milon.

President Bill H. Terrell presided and Earl Dotzauer served as program chairman. Plans for the 25th anniversary of the Roca Young Men's Club of Granite City were discussed by Mike Jesse, advisor, and Donald Dotzauer, a member of the club.

The speaker recalled fundraising and service activities of the organization and reviewed its emphasis on brotherhood and responsibility.

It was announced that Rotary-Ann's will attend the October Rotary luncheon at which there will be speakers on the topic of "Rape Prevention."

Girl, 15, hurt in fall from bicycle

Patricia K. Branch, 15, of 2406 W. 24th St., was admitted at 2:30 p.m. Thursday to St. Elizabeth Hospital after falling from a bicycle.

The girl was a passenger on a bicycle ridden by Guy Browning, 15, of 2129 Bryan Ave. Browning told police a light blue station wagon ran a stop sign while it was heading west on 22nd Street at Bryan Avenue and swerved toward him and Miss Branch.

Browning stopped suddenly and Miss Branch fell from the bicycle.

Claude Pyle, 84, dies in Highland

Claude D. Pyle, 84, of 720 Twelfth St., Highland, the father of a local resident, died at 4:50 p.m. Saturday at St. Joseph's Hospital, Highland. He was hospitalized for two days following a lengthy illness.

Mr. Pyle was a retired mechanic. He had worked at Schott's Implement Co. of Highland; a Ford auto agency; and, at one time, with the Highland Police Department.

He was a 50-year member of the Highland Masonic Lodge. His wife, Laura, died on Feb. 28, 1972.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. George (Mary) Lane, Hometown of Granite City; Mrs. Arnold (Doris) Wilson of Highland; five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Private funeral services are scheduled Tuesday at a Highland mortuary, with interment at College Hills Cemetery, Lebanon, Ill.

Find grenades

A woman residing in the 2300 block of Edwardsville Road notified Granite City police at 1:50 p.m. Friday that she had found an old military ammunition box containing three live hand grenades under the porch of her mobile home.

Police removed the box, which was rusted and appeared old, and found the grenades wrapped in cardboard. They were turned over to the U. S. Army 56th Ordnance Detachment at the Granite City Army Installation. Officers are investigating how the ammunition box got under the porch.

Port future bright

The future development and expansion of the Tri-City Regional Port, with offices at 2801 Rock Road, "looks very good," Carl A. Ranft, port manager, told the Thursday noon meeting of the Optimist Club at the YMCA.

The Tri-City Port is strategically located with respect to the 25,000 mile inland waterway system with a high degree of rail, highway, and pipeline accessibility, according to Ranft.

Three hundred acres of land are available for port development in the harbor area. The 5,000 foot harbor, located in the Chain of Rocks Canal, is one of the northernmost ice-free, slack water harbors on the Mississippi River.

Ranft said the northern facilities have to shut down because of ice, but Granite City has a year-around operation.

Ranft said present development plans include a major expansion of dry bulk commodity facilities; expansion of liquid bulk terminal facilities and general cargo and containerized shipping facilities.

He told the club that many items are shipped here by rail and then transferred to a federal grant as the rates by barge to New Orleans are much cheaper than rail.

Ranft said that State Senator Sam Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville) and Cong. Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis) both did much to get a federal grant of $120,000 to finance installation of a water main through the port facilities along the riverfront, which will allow for further development and add much needed fire protection.

Ranft said legislation is now pending to allow the port to apply for foreign trade zone designations and to allow the port district to finance construction of a new multipurpose bulk transfer facility as the existing facility is operating at capacity.

CORRECTIONS DEPARTMENT

It's having its own population explosion

By JOAN MURARO

SPRINGFIELD — A population explosion all its own is dealing the Illinois Corrections Department a double whammy.

With no way to accurately predict how many inmates it may have to provide for even six months from now, the department must arrange its budget, security and institutional services for a full year or more in advance.

Then it has to figure out what to do with the skyrocketing numbers of inmates once it gets them. There are only so many industrial jobs, so much classroom space available.

The department now has 7,649 adult inmates (including 185 women) actually in custody in its nine adult facilities. Not included in the figures are the additional 200 plus enrolled in work release programs, in which they live outside the institution walls under supervision while they work or study in the community.

For the period which began July 1 and ends June 30 of next year, the department has set a projected resident total of 8,500, a figure which could be as far off as the proverbial country mile.

In the fiscal year just ended, the totals spiraled upward at such an unexpectedly sharp rate the department had to seek a $550,000 deficiency appropriation just to cover the increased load.

No figures are available on what it cost per capita in the last fiscal year to maintain the resident population, but in 1974 it balanced out to about $6,500 a year per inmate, according to Joseph A. Fecondo, in charge of adult institutional services for the department.

The figure is not likely to vary too much for 1975, Fecondo said, since per capita costs actually tend to go down as the number involved goes up.

Even so, Fecondo's adult services section will account for $55.3 million of the $93.5 million the department is presently budgeted to receive.

Unlike colleges, factories or the armed forces, which go out and recruit for a set goal and can quit when they reach it, the Corrections Department must take what the courts send it. And the courts are sending more people to actually serve time, and seem to be sentencing them to longer terms, which intensifies the problem.

(For what consolation it may be, Fecondo says a recent staff survey indicates the state isn't alone; every major state responding indicated the same problem and the states with worse unemployment problems also had worse prison population problems.)

In order to cope with a projected goal of 8,500 inmates this time next year, the department plans to add 330 persons to its payroll — nearly all of them will be custodial, since these personnel must be provided round-the-clock, seven days a week. The current ratio of services personnel is one counselor for each 100 inmates, so these will account for only a handful of the additions.

The totals at the major institutions currently break down to 2,000 at Stateville, 1,600 at Menard, 1,200 at Pontiac and a little over 800 at Joliet's old prison. Sheridan, which has chiefly diagnostic and reception functions, is at "absolute capacity" with a little over 260 men on hand, and the minimum security facility at Vienna has 410 males and 54 females. The coeducational facility at Dwight has 107 women and expects to have 85 men soon.

The department, Fecondo said, expects the Menard population to go to 1,800 within this coming year, and anticipates the Vienna male population will rise to 500. There is space for only 58 women at Vienna.

"We're like a factory that has 500 jobs and 1,000 applicants. When you run a state's prison, you take the entire 1,000, whether you have something for them to do or not."

SIUE Center at Scott Proves Education Is for Everyone

Caseyville, is working on a degree in history. When he gets off work at night, he drops into the base Resident Center operated by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

"I can just stay on base and take classes," Nichols said. "It saves me having to drive to the main campus several nights a week to take the courses I need," he said.

What Nichols doesn't realize is that if the SIUE Resident Center and other college facilities on base were not so convenient, he probably wouldn't continue his higher education at all. The hassle of driving to a campus 30 miles away might be too much.

Robert Sutter, of Belleville and Watertown, South Dakota, an airman stationed at Scott, received his bachelor's degree in mathematics at the Air Force Academy. Sutter plans to return to his hometown of Watertown when his tour of duty is over, "if it is still there." Meanwhile, he is working on his master's degree.

Praising the SIUE Resident Center, Sutter said, "It sure beats driving up to the campus."

Jacquelyn McKinney, of Lebanon and Cleveland, Ohio, wife of a serviceman stationed at Scott, dropped out of college to get married and again later when she had a baby. But she is determined to get an education. She intends to enroll in classes at the SIUE Resident Center again this fall.

Nichols, Sutter and Mrs. McKinney are representative of the new breed of student enrolled in college today. The mature student no longer feels that a college education is only for the younger set. Believing that learning can be a lifetime process, they are returning to the campus in droves. Off-campus, on-base, or off-duty programs provide them with the opportunity to continue the learning process.

"Off-campus programs offer educational opportunities to students who cannot attend regular classes on campus for one reason or another," Paul Burns, director of the SIUE Office of Off-Campus Programs, said. "The students may not be able to attend classes on campus because of conflicting work schedules. Or they may not have the time or money to commute long distances."

Tuition for the student at Scott Air Force Base is the same as it is for the campus-bound student. However, the off-campus students have the additional expense of purchasing their books. At the main campus, textbooks are supplied to students on a rental basis.

Military personnel can get 75 percent of their tuition paid by the government. The remaining 25 percent can be arranged through their Veterans Administration benefits.

Airmen at Scott nearing retirement see on-base education as a chance to prepare themselves for re-entry into the business world. Some of them are going to college for the first time; others are completing their education. Many times, the jobs servicemen get when they leave the service are based on the education they have received while on base.

SIUE offers on-base educational opportunities at all U. S. Military Airfield Commands (MAAC) bases throughout the nation and in the Portuguese Azores. Airmen, whose education is interrupted when they are transferred to another base, can continue their educational programs at their new stations.

After all, they don't have to go to school; mama and papa aren't twisting their arms. They're doing it on their own time," Godwin said. Mature students make better qualified graduates in whatever they undertake, he stated.

Although other colleges and universities from the surrounding communities offer classes at Scott, SIUE brought the first complete degree program to the base about three or four years ago. Godwin said students can do all their work toward a master's degree in business administration without leaving the base.

Military personnel, subject to temporary duty, find it unfeasible to undertake regular college work. "At a base resident center, the instructors understand and take care of all their work toward a master's degree in business administration without leaving the base."

SIUE TAKES CLASSES TO THE STUDENTS—Tom Weir (left), director of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Resident Center at Scott Air Force Base, listens intently as Robert Sutter, airman, explains a computer printout. While he is stationed in the area, Sutter, who is working on his master's degree in mathematics, attends on-base classes at the SIUE Resident Center.

Smith plant aids renovation of 'Y'

"A. O. Smith Corporation's continuing concern for the youth of this community is clearly evident in their gift of $1,000 to the YMCA for the building renovation program which began last year," E. A. Karandjeff, chairman of the board of directors of the "Y," said today.

"It is all the more remarkable when we recognize that A. O. Smith is not having a good year," he noted.

The presentation was made by officials of the Smith auto frame plant—Plant Manager Paul H. Kelly and Clifton E. Blankenship, supervisor of safety and training.

The "Y" still has several major building renovation projects to complete—new lighting in the gymnasium, a vacuum pump on the boiler to be replaced, electrical work and ceiling repair in steam room. Painting and redecorating of rooms is in progress at the present time. The other projects will be undertaken when funds that have been pledged are redeemed later this year, Karandjeff said.

"We deeply appreciate the dedication to the betterment of the community that is represented by this timely gift," he concluded.

Motor fuel tax funds allotted

Illinois municipalities have been allotted $9,757,853 as their share of motor fuel tax paid into the state treasury during June, according to the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Motor fuel tax funds are allocated monthly to the various municipalities in Illinois for their streets and highways. The monies allocated are computed on the basis of population.

Quad-City area allotments included $41,125 to Granite City, $7,117 to Madison and $4,730 to Venice.

Counties in Illinois, except Cook County, received a total of $3,730,513. Those allotments included $139,363 to Madison County.

County Demos to attend fair event

Thursday, Aug. 24, has been designated by the state of Illinois as Democrat Day in Springfield which again will be held in conjunction with the Illinois State Fair.

The Madison County Democratic Central Committee has announced that it will open its annual hospitality room again at the new Forum-30 hotel-motel in downtown Springfield, beginning at 4 p.m. with music and refreshments.

Plans to attend have been announced by most of the top state officials together with local and county officials from all over the state.

The Madison County organization has sponsored this event for several years, furnishing an opportunity for everyone to meet and talk to office holders and potential candidates.

This event, is accepted as one of the largest gatherings of downstate Democrats now being held in the state of Illinois.

For those persons who did not receive them in the mail, tickets may be obtained from any county chairman or from the secretary-treasurer, Madison County Democratic Committee, 1506 Johnson Road, Granite City, Ill., at $5 each. Nelson Hagmann, Madison County chairman, said.

Steel output down third month in row

Domestic raw steel production fell for the third month in a row during June, reaching its lowest level since November 1971.

According to the American Iron and Steel Institute, mills in this country poured 8,744,000 tons of steel in June. This was a drop of over 1,100,000 tons from May's 9,864,000-ton production and marked the lowest one-month steel output since November 1971, when the industry produced 8,053,000 tons of raw steel.

During the current production decline, steelmakers have tended to increase their reliance on the highly efficient basic oxygen furnaces—and decrease their use of the older open hearth process.

During June, BOF's made 5,531,000 tons of steel—or more than 63 per cent of the month's total output. Open hearths produced 3,213,000 tons. This was less than the electric furnaces, which made 1,624,000 tons during the month.

Through the first half of this year, domestic steel production totaled 63,701,000 tons. This compares with the 74,462,000 tons made during the same period of 1974.

During the first six months of this year, BOF output totaled 38,008,000 tons of steel. Open hearths produced 12,987,000 tons and electric furnaces made 12,705,000 tons.

In the comparable period of 1974, basic oxygen furnaces made 41,278,000 tons, open hearths 18,796,000 tons, and electric furnaces 14,389,000 tons.

The meeting was recessed until 3 p.m. on Tuesday, July 29, when the board will meet to adopt a new appropriation budget for the current fiscal year.

SIUE awarded grant for bicentennial sculptures

The department of art and design at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has received a $3,750 grant from the Illinois Bicentennial Commission, providing fees for three sculptors to construct three small-scale sculptures.

The sculptures, called maquettes, may be built on a larger scale and displayed on campus if additional funding becomes available, according to Michael Smith, acting chairman of the department of art and design.

"We're thinking in monumental terms," Smith said, referring to the prospective sculptures.

Three well-known Illinois sculptors will be commissioned to do the work with materials ranging from welded steel to neon. Smith said the work of the sculptors hopefully will be done on campus, and the artists involved in the project will be available to talk to the students.

The sculptures are to be completed in the next year and "generally" will have a bicentennial theme, according to Smith. After the works are completed, they will become a part of the university's permanent collection.

The grant from the Illinois Bicentennial Commission will be matched by university funds. David Huntley, chairman of the department of art and design, and Ken Ryden, assistant professor and sculptor, were largely responsible for obtaining the grant funding, Smith said.

Park Board ok's expenditures

The Granite City Park Board last week approved a financial report showing expenditures of $96,552 from June 13 through July 17, and receipts totaling $36,587 for the same period.

A breakdown of the expenditures listed $43,663 in the payroll account. The receipts brought the total balance on hand to $149,404.

The board also approved a bid of $9,513 by Case Power and

Woman beaten, is hospitalized

Mrs. LaVera Smith, 22, of 625 Garesche Homes, Madison, reported at 4:20 a.m. Sunday that a man broke into her home, beat her with a pistol and with his fists, and molested her.

She said she was sleeping in an upstairs bedroom when a man, about 25 years-of-age, entered the bedroom and began beating her with his fists. He then struck her head with a pistol, pointed the pistol at her head and pulled the trigger, but the gun did not fire, she said.

After molesting her, the man kicked her, she said. She was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was admitted with bruises and contusions to her face, hematoma to the left side of her head and pain to her right shoulder and upper arm and her right side. A series of X-rays was taken.

Woman, 75, is struck by car

Mrs. Mary Rice, 75, of 2455 Madison Ave., was injured when she was walking through the Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center parking lot and was struck by the auto of Paul Deidiker, 47, of 2535 Pine St., backing from a parking space.

Mrs. Rice was placed in a backboard and taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was admitted for a broken left wrist and minor injuries to other parts of her body.

Police allegedly arrested Deidiker at home and charged him with failure to give information after an injury accident and failure to give aid.

Arrest 12 in Kirkpatrick Homes

Twelve youths, ranging in age from 15 to 24, were arrested during and after a series of disturbances Saturday night and early Sunday in the 4300 and 4400 blocks of Kirkpatrick Homes.

Police said they had been called to the housing project several times during the evening hours to disband groups of youths gathering in the parking lots and making noise. Each time a group was disbanded, another group would form as soon as police left, it was reported. Officers at 1:25 a.m. Sunday took two police cars into the housing project and took into custody 11 youths in the parking lot for the 4400 block.

Ten were charged and one girl was released without charges being filed.

Six of those arrested were juveniles and were charged with curfew violations. Two resided in Kirkpatrick Homes, one was from St. Louis, one from Collinsville, one from Pontoon Beach and another was from another part of Granite City.

Scott Briggs, 17, of 1924 Johnson Road, also was charged with a curfew violation.

Arrested and charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor were Roy Shemona, 24, of 1743 Olive St., John Weller, 18, of 2005 Kirkpatrick Homes, and John Stoness, 18, of 1406 Kirkpatrick Homes.

Police were called again to the 4300 block of Kirkpatrick Homes at 2:40 a.m. Sunday after a fight was reported. Numerous youths were seen fleeing into nearby apartments. Police were able to arrest only two. Charged with disorderly conduct were Dennis Vanleet, 18, of 1232 Edwardsville Road, and Carl Banks, 19, St. Louis.

Car salesmen duped of $250

Two men in a 1973 white over red Oldsmobile Cutlass stole $250 from salesmen at a Granite City auto agency after offering to sell them televisions at reduced prices at 3:25 p.m. Saturday.

The salesmen said the two men were looking at cars on the used car lot and one salesman noticed a citizens' band radio antenna on their car. He asked if they had a citizens' band radio and the man asked the salesman if he wanted to purchase one.

When the salesman said he did not want a radio, one of the men told him they also had all kinds of television sets for sale. He said he would sell him a color television set for $100.

Later he said if the salesman would help him find other customers, he would sell him a television for $50.

The salesman talked to other car salesmen in the building and found two willing to pay $100 each for color television sets. The three salesmen gave one of the men $250 for three television sets and one salesman drove the man to get the sets.

They drove to 19th Street at West 20th Street where the man asked the salesman to wait outside a minute while he went inside to get the sets. He did not return.

A woman in the apartment house at that location said she heard the footsteps of someone run from the front door and out the side door which faces Rock Road.

One of the men was described as about 5 feet, 6 inches tall, slim, weighing about 160 pounds and having dark brown shoulder-length hair and a mustache.

The other was about 5 feet, 7 inches tall, weighed about 170 pounds and had dark hair.

Coordinated Youth offers big brother, sister plan

A newly-developed program at Coordinated Youth Services (CYS) in Granite City allows young people to apply for the company of a "big sister" or a "big brother."

Frank Signaigo, head of the program, said it is designed to spend children some time to go along with a "special friend."

The program is not limited to children who are the only child in their families.

"Most kids seem to want some friend to tell their secrets to, someone to be close to," Wendy Wade, 20, a CYS worker and big sister, said.

Miss Wade and her little sister, Allison Timko, 10, of 816 State St., go swimming and shopping together, among other things. Allison visits Wendy's house in Collinsville to help her big sister do the housework. She also is learning to sew from Miss Wade.

"When we're together we do pretty much what Allison wants, because she knows our time is really for her," Miss Wade said.

The two don't often go places where they would have to spend money because, as Miss Wade said, "It's easier for someone to express his or her feelings to someone who's not always buying them something, and, in a sense, indebted that person."

Spending time, not money, is the important thing," Signaigo agrees with Miss Wade. He said money isn't as important to a youngster as the knowledge that someone can say, "I'm available, I'm here."

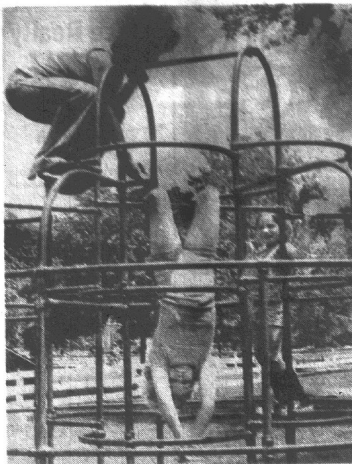

Signaigo said some of the things he and his little brother do is go fishing, bike riding and visiting the zoo.

The big brother-sister program at CYS allows several degrees of participation. Persons may spend four hours each week or each month with a little brother or sister or one may just take a little sister or brother along for special outings or trips.

Miss Wade said she tries to spend as much time as possible with Allison, who calls her every day at work. They often spend Saturday mornings together.

Allison, who has four sisters and a brother, said she has had other big sisters and she enjoys the time spent with them.

Miss Wade will be entering Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville this fall as a freshman student in human services. Anyone wishing to become a big brother or sister should contact Signaigo at 876-2383.

BIG AND LITTLE SISTERS. Wendy Wade, top, reaches toward her "little sister," Allison Timko, 10, of 816 State St., while they play on the monkey bars in Wilson Park with Allison's 7-year-old sister, Yvonne. Allison and Miss Wade became "sisters" through a program sponsored by the Coordinated Youth Service. The program is designed to provide a younger child with the companionship of an older person. Miss Wade works at CYS and lives in Collinsville.

Registration opens for Park District trip to Nashville

The Granite City Park District is now accepting registrations for its planned trip to Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 5-7.

While in Nashville, participants will attend the 6:30 performance of the Grand Ole Opry at Opryland. In addition, individuals will be able to participate in trips to Civil War Battlefields, excursions to see country music stars' homes, the Hermitage, and the Country Music Hall of Fame.

Costs range from $13 to $5.50

N&W DIVIDEND

The Norfolk and Western Railway Company board of directors has declared a regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 per share of common stock, payable Sept. 10 to stockholders of record on Aug. 6.

per day, depending on the number of reservations in the party. Twenty dollars per person is required for round trip transportation to Nashville and $3 is required for admission to the Grand Ole Opry performance. Individuals will be registered on a first-come, first-served basis, with all fees due at the time of registration.

"We have had an increasing number of individuals participate in this trip since it began in 1972. We have had to turn people down each year, so I suggest persons register as early as possible," said Mike Jessee, recreation director for the park district.

"We doubled the number of people we took last year over the year before and we still didn't meet the demand," he added.

Jessee indicated the excursion is subject to cancellation on Aug. 29 if an adequate number of people do not register.

Information may be obtained by calling the Park Office, 877-3009.

Art course for teachers

A course in art education for elementary classroom teachers will be offered during the fall quarter at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Sponsored by the department of art and design and the art education area, the course is open to elementary education majors who have completed student teaching and to teachers presently in the field, according to Joe Weber, assistant professor. He said the course will be aimed at developing instructional materials for teaching art in the elementary school, along grade level needs.

Teachers will have an opportunity to construct kits and packages for individualized instruction, create learning centers for art activities, and compile motivational and resource materials for teaching art concepts.

Weber said teachers also will have the opportunity to work with new materials and techniques, including audio-visual media as an art tool.

The course will be offered for four credit hours, from 6:30 to 9:20 p.m. Tuesdays. Additional information may be obtained by calling the SIUE art education area, 692-3183.

Forced to drive man to truck stop

Sharon Patrick, 2135 Lee St., told police last week that a man entered the left rear door of her car when she stopped at a red light heading south on Edwardsville Road at 20th Street.

She said the man told her to turn the car around and forced her to drive to the Gateway Truck Plaza on Route 203 south of Bend Road. The man then left the car.

Through his fiction, students will assess the writer as a historian, sociologist, philosopher and literary artist. All honor courses at SIUE are seminars. The format includes reading, discussion and research.

Requirements for enrollment in the course are sophomore standing and a 4.0 cumulative average or dean's list status for the last two quarters. No examinations will be given.

For persons interested in enrolling, additional information may be obtained by contacting the SIUE English language and literature department.

New refrigerator for Blair school

The Madison School Board Wednesday evening approved the purchase of a refrigerator from Hilla Brand Distributors of St. Louis for $1,209 which was low bid. The next lowest bid was $1,437 by a Belleville firm.

The refrigerator will replace a 19-year-old unit that is in need of extensive repairs at Blair school.

Part of the monies for the new refrigerator will come from a state Non-food assistance program.

The board also authorized Elton Rhoads, maintenance supervisor, to purchase roll roofing to repair the Dunbar school annex roof.

The board authorized Wade James, assistant superintendent of schools, to advertise for bids to purchase a 24,000 BTU air conditioner for the teacher corps program at Harris school with the cost being shared by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Time spends on, one year has passed. Since death its gloom, its shadow, cast Within our home, where all seemed bright And took from us a shining light. We miss that light and ever will have vacant place there is none to fill. Down here we mourn, but not in vain. For up in heaven we will meet again. ASK IRS

Q. When I filed my return for 1974, I wasn't sure I had enough records to support the deductions I claimed. Just what are the record keeping requirements of the IRS?

A. Taxpayers are required by law to keep records that will enable them to prepare complete and accurate income tax returns. Although the law doesn't require any special form of records, taxpayers must retain all receipts, canceled checks, and other evidence to prove amounts claimed as deductions. If a taxpayer files a claim for a refund, there must be records to prove overpayment on a return must be kept until the statute of limitations for the return expires. Usually this is three years from the date the return was due or filed, or two years from the date the tax was paid, whichever occurs later. Additionally, records of transactions relating to the basis of property should be retained as long as they are material in determining the tax.

Q. Can condominium owners deduct amounts paid for real estate taxes and mortgage interest?

A. Yes, if you itemize deductions on Schedule A of Form 1040, such payments are deductible.

OPEN HOUSE
Family dream slipping away
By JAMES M. WOODARD
About two out of every three families in the United States now own the home in which they reside. And nearly 40 per cent of all owner-occupied homes are now mortgage-free.
Owning a home, with or without a mortgage loan, has always been one of the strongest motivations of U.S. families throughout the 200-year history of this country. But that long-cherished goal is slipping out of reach for increasing numbers of Americans. It was confirmed in a recent study.
There has been a sharp decline in the availability of housing for low- and middle-income families, it was revealed in a study released by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, comprised of members of both houses of Congress.
The decline in the availability of homes for purchase is not due to diminishing motivation to own a home. There is probably a stronger desire for this bit of security and "pride of ownership" today than ever before. The problem is pinned to the sad state of our economy.
"Rising home costs, high interest rates and soaring utility bills have combined to price many middle income families out of the single family home market," Humphrey said. "Particularly damaging in the past year have been huge increases in utility costs."
The study, conducted by the Congressional Research Service of the Library of Congress, showed that the percentage of American families capable of handling expenses relating to the purchase and maintaining of a new home dropped from 21.5 to 15 per cent during the last year. In the case of existing (used) homes, the proportion of "viable" families slid from 28.8 to 20 per cent.
Most Americans are only too aware of the rapidly increasing price tags on homes — new or used. However, few recognize that the cost of operating and maintaining a home has been increasing at a more rapid rate.
The study showed that monthly expenses for housing services increased 22 per cent during the past year on newly constructed and purchased median-priced homes, and 27 per cent on existing homes. These expenses include principal and interest payments on the home loan as well as taxes, insurance, utilities, maintenance and repair costs.
It's also interesting to note that the minimum annual income usually needed to qualify for a median-priced new home today is about $23,330. For an existing home it's $21,170. Just a couple of years ago, those figures were $19,000 and $16,700.

Bicentennial plans for courthouse include access ramp

Madison County governmental plans for the U.S. Bicentennial appropriately include upgrading of the County Courthouse.

Among the potential lobby improvements are the commissioning of an original James Madison statue, and the acquisition and display of a variety of artworks.

A highly practical phase of the courthouse planning calls for installation of a ramp to increase access to the building for the physically handicapped. Bids are to be sought for this work, and a self-service elevator already is being constructed. Both facilities will be suitable for use by those who are confined to wheelchairs.

Bishop O'Connor retiring after long service to diocese

The career of the Most Rev. William A. O'Connor, bishop of Springfield for the past 26 years, has been closely intertwined with the Quad-Cities and he has participated in many ceremonies here, including the opening of new churches, schools and hospital facilities.

The best wishes of Quad-City Catholics and non-Catholics go with him as he prepares to retire from active service in the local diocese.

His successor, Bishop Joseph M. Nicholas, a lifelong St. Louisan, has served as a leading advocate of his church's doctrine during 26 years as a priest and bishop, and has been the St. Louis diocese auxiliary bishop since March 1969. Since June 1970, the highly-regarded church leader has held the additional title of "vicar for the city and the urban apostolate."

Extensive debate likely on use of federal gasoline tax

Press-Record Washington Bureau — President Ford's proposal to revise the distribution of the Highway Trust Fund "financed by the four-cent federal gasoline tax opens an important debate on national transportation policy."

His proposed new formula, leaving only one cent of the tax strictly tied to use for highway construction, is bound to generate controversy. However, at least two principles underlying his plan should arouse little argument.

Mr. Ford emphasizes the importance of finishing work on the Interstate Highway System undertaken in 1956 and now 85 per cent complete. The need for that nationwide freeway network is still valid, no matter what effect energy and environmental problems may have on our future travel habits.

The question is whether the one cent

Mr. Ford would assign to the Interstate is sufficient for an adequate timetable for its completion and for its future maintenance.

Further, the President's plan in effect would return one cent of the tax to the states, aiming to give them more flexibility in using federal aid in the broad category of transportation. There is merit in this principle, since priorities for investment in interstate transportation needs can vary from state to state.

Mr. Ford may find the least enthusiasm for the proposal to put the other two cents of the tax into the general fund, with year to year to pay for non-interstate federal highway projects. To hope that a coherent road-building program could emerge from the arena of congressional politics would be a test of the public faith.

Half-dollars in eclipse—other than as souvenir coins

Minting special coins for the Bicentennial is a good idea, but it has not yet been decided whether the new half dollar will be distributed by the U.S. Mint or going to show up very often in our change. They have a picture of Philadelphia's Independence Hall instead of the American Eagle on the side opposite John F. Kennedy's profile.

The Kennedy half-dollar itself has become more of a collector's item than a usable piece of change. The novelty of the Bicentennial halves may arouse the same impulse to stock them away.

The 50-cent piece seems to be in eclipse as part of America's working capital. There are no half-dollar slots on most vending machines, or on pay telephones.

For the Bicentennial to come into its own in pockets and pocketbooks, we will probably have to wait for the Mint to come out with its commemorative quarters later this year.

Trend toward ambulance curtailment

Pekin Times—Many communities throughout the state have been faced recently or are being faced with cancellation of ambulance services by private operators.

Various reasons are brought forward for this, such as new state and federal regulations. The Federal Highway Safety Act of 1966 has as part of its planned program the upgrading of ambulance service.

This would include regulating the type of training for ambulance attendants as well as the type of vehicles which could be used.

Some recent laws allow fire protection districts to provide or contract for ambulance service in their district, and others allow municipalities to license and regulate the operation of ambulances or to operate ambulances.

Very few municipalities or fire protection districts have exercised their option under these laws.

There are basically four things forcing private operators out of the ambulance business at present.

They are: 1) Federal Wage and Hour Law, 2) the amount of paperwork necessary to collect from Medicare, 3) the problems of collecting a large percentage from open accounts, and 4) fears of passage of state regulations coinciding with the Federal Highway Safety Act.

They now must pay minimum wage and pay overtime after eight hours. If they are to maintain around-the-clock service, this becomes expensive unless there is sufficient business.

Many operators complain of the amount of time taken up in Medicare collection.

A recent survey indicated that three to four per cent of ambulance trips were on false runs.

Collection difficulties have been reported by all types of ambulance drivers.

Surveys recently have indicated that the average number of statements to collect a bill was at least four, and collections sometimes were as low as 50 per cent of total bills.

Amalgam operators in the past in many cases have been able to maintain a staff only by hiring persons for whom work opportunities were limited.

Governmental units operating ambulance services can apply for help in funding the establishment of the service from the federal government.

In order to obtain this federal funding, ambulances and personnel must comply with federal regulations under the Highway Safety Act.

This includes the type of vehicle and training given the operators and a requirement for radio communication in the vehicle.

It is estimated that between 80,000 and 100,000 people are needed in a service area to generate enough business for an independent operator to operate successfully without subsidization.

There are a number of ways to finance the purchase of equipment.

Some of the ways have been: 1) city and county governments purchasing the local ambulance funds for matching federal monies; 2) the service furnishing a portion of the local share and getting matching monies; 3) in a few cases, local funeral directors have given the vehicles to start the service.

If federal funds are to be considered, application must be made to be made through the Highway Safety Act of 1966.

These funds are available on a pro-rated basis to municipalities over 10,000 population and to counties.

'Missed opportunity' in convention

Editor's Note: This is the fourth of six articles in a series on the Harris Poll. The first article was published in the July 21 issue.

SPRINGFIELD — To John Alexander, the new Illinois Constitution represents a missed opportunity.

At 28, the former school teacher, now in the real estate business in Virden, was one of the youngest delegates at the 1970 Constitutional Convention and was chosen as one of three vice presidents in a decision aimed at providing a strong voice for youth.

He developed into a critic of the proceedings, voted against adoption of the final document, and then actively campaigned against the proposal in the December, 1970, referendum.

Five years later, interviewed in his book-lined office, Alexander makes it clear that he still feels Con-Con, as it was familiarly known, was a failure.

"My feelings really haven't changed," he said, "I was opposed to it and told as many people as I could that our efforts were unsuccessful."

"I view the convention as a disappointment," he adds. "We had a rare chance to improve the framework of state government and we didn't do it."

"We had a chance for some major reforms in the legislature," Alexander says, "but we barely touched the legislature. Instead of giving voters a chance to reduce its size we actually increased it by one member."

He insists that "in terms of really reshaping state government, I really don't believe we scratched the surface."

He regrets that the Convention did not produce a Constitution that could have been a good guide for improving state government for generations to come.

Alexander does concede a few improvements in the new Constitution but regards them as relatively minor. He describes as "paltry good" the change of the election of governor and other state officials from presidential election years to the off-year elections. He believes this will focus more public attention on the office of the governor and make state government appear more important to the voters.

But Alexander regrets that there was not more elimination of state elective offices, saying that "it doesn't make much sense to elect administrators."

He says that the new Constitution is still the same as the old 1870 Constitution "with new wording." He doubts the new Constitution has made any impact at all on the individual Illinoisan.

"Life in Illinois would be just like it is today if we still had the old Constitution," he says.

In campaigning against the proposed Constitution in 1970, Alexander told various audiences that the document was "void of significant reform" in the areas of the judiciary, the legislature and the state executive branch.

Today he still deplores the convention decision to offer as separate propositions proposals that there should be a nonpolitical selection.

"There is still a lot of politics in his selection," Alexander insists. "There should be a nonpolitical selection."

He also concedes there may be some merit in the new system whereby the governor and lieutenant governor run jointly like candidates for president and vice president. But even here he is skeptical.

Alexander notes that at the time of the Constitutional Convention, Illinois had a Republican governor in Richard B. Ogilvie and a Democratic lieutenant governor in Paul Simon. These two appeared to work better together than do current Gov. Dan Walker and Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan, both Democrats and first to be elected under the new Constitution, he says.

Alexander adds that "I don't really think that because they (governor and lieutenant governor) are of the same party they can work together better."

He deplores the fact that the "convention in effect 'ducked' the issue of whether judges should be removed completely from politics. They still run originally as Republicans or Democrats."

"There should be a non-political selection," he contends. "You can't have Republican justice or Democratic justice."

The new Constitution, in formally requiring annual sessions of the legislature, may also have made an improvement for state government, but Alexander adds that "we were beginning to do that anyway."

He is especially critical of the revenue article of the new Constitution and contends that it favors large business corporations over individual taxpayers.

"We took some of the provisions of the income tax law which had just been passed, and from them into the new Constitution," he charges.

Nor does Alexander share the views of some that a major accomplishment of the Constitutional Convention was opening up a whole new era of home rule for

Karen A. Hanne becomes Mrs. Thomas P. Niebur

St. Elizabeth Catholic Church was the scene of the mid-summer wedding on Friday evening of Miss Karen A. Hanne, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hanne, 2055 Manley Ave., and Thomas P. Niebur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Niebur, 14 Midway.

White satin bows on the pews and pyramid style bouquets of blue and white roses on the altar provided the setting for the double-ring ceremony performed at 6 o'clock by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Lawrence Mattingly.

Organist Mrs. Clea Judd accompanied John Stanfill as he sang, "Wedding Song," "Forever," "Sunrise," and "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" and the Lord's Prayer.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a full-length gown of white sate peau fashioned in a Victorian style with a high neckline featuring a sheer yoke accented with peau d'ange lace, which was also applied on the bodice, sleeves and tightly-fitted cuffs.

The apron drape effect of the skirt was detailed with lace along the back and edged with lace, as was the hemline of the skirt and chapel train.

Her silk illusion veil was secured to a matching lace headpiece and she carried a tear-drop bouquet of blue roses, white carnations and interspersed with baby's breath.

Maid of honor Miss Joyce Harding and bridesmaids, Miss Diane Lafikes, both sisters of the groom, wore identical blue-dotted swiss gowns, complemented with white lace wide-trimmed hats.

The dresses were designed with molded bodices with square necklines, baby-doll sleeves and high-rise waistlines accented with a bow at the back.

A gathered flounce encircled the A-line skirts.

Each attendant held a nosegay of white carnations, blue roses and baby's breath.

Employed as a foreman in the Hot Strip mill of Granite City Steel, the groom also is a 1969 graduate of the local high school and a 1973 graduate of the University of Illinois where he received a B.S. degree in engineering.

Others present were Evelyn Ferro, Ilsa Bauer, Barbara Stout, Lucille Broyles and Clara Winter. Mrs. Mang will host the August meeting.
